All of us at Staging Directions would like to wish you a very happy holiday season.

This past year has been challenging to say the least. Yet we are fortunate that we have been able to help our clients weather the storm and deliver quality events. Thankfully 2010 is shaping up to be a busy, productive year and Staging Directions is stronger than ever. While others are cutting back, we continue to update our growing inventory and train our staff to be your best resource for great event staging. We are pleased that we can continue to help you work through the challenging economy -- with our best efforts for your best results.

We truly appreciate our relationships with you and look forward to many more years of successful partnerships. May we all enjoy this holiday season and embrace a prosperous new year.

Warmest wishes,

Nick D'Allen
